

Cornell University

We gratefully acknowledge support from the Simons Foundation, member institutions, and all contributors.

HomePolicies

Crosslisting articles

To cross-list an article to another category

You may feel that your article is of direct interest to the readers of a category other than the one to which you submitted your article. In such cases you may cross-list your article to the other category so that your article appears in the regular listing for that category (in the cross-list section).

Note that readers consider excessive or inappropriate cross-listing to be bad etiquette, so consider your cross-lists beforehand, and do not cross-list excessively or without good reason. It is rarely appropriate to add more than one or two cross-lists. Also note that you are unlikely to know that a cross-list is appropriate unless you are yourself a reader of the archive to which you are considering a cross-list. Bad cross-lists will be removed.

You can cross-list an article using the cross-list facility on your user page.

AboutHelpCopyrightPrivacy Policy✉ Contact📧 Subscribe🚩 Report a documentation issueWeb Accessibility AssistancearXiv Operational Status ➤Get status notifications via ✉ email or 🗨 slack