Policies for Format Requirements

All submissions to arXiv must meet the standards for moderation and scholarly interest.

Authors should use the following format requirements. As part of moderation we may ask for other requirements on an individual basis.

Submission Requirements

Submissions should have:

- Title and authorship (no anonymous submissions)
- Complete references
- Links to code or data sets must resolve to a publicly available repository
- Machine readability
- Single spaced text
- 10 to 14 point type
- Minimum 1" page margin

Submissions should not have:

- Line numbers
- Watermarks that obstruct the text

- Advertisements of any kind
- Highlighted text
- Margin notes
- Referee remarks
- Slides or posters included in the article body. Please use ancillary files.
- Copyright statements which prohibit or impair arXiv's redistribution license.

There are additional requirements based on the files submitted.

- LaTeX/PDFLaTeX source requirements
- PDF source requirements

If your submission does not meet these requirements, it may be returned to you for correction.

Guidelines

Large Sections of Non-Text Content

- Papers with long sections that are not article text, like code, images, or tables we encourage authors to use ancillary files rather than append them to the end of the document.
